Ken River rom lunch at a small north Caddo restaurant where you eat alongside planters in from the field to a walk in a downtown cemetery or ziplining over alligators in Greenwood, there is plenty to do and see in northwest Louisiana.

We discovered many treasures when we dug for things to do. places to go, stops to eat and sights to see for this article.

There are thousands — well, perhaps only hundreds — of area sights, so we had to hunker down and cull to feature small as well as major items. Our quest led us to the unfamiliar and places best recognized. Some were off-the-beaten-path and others we found right in our backyard. In addition, we wanted our list to feature some activities and locations in small towns as well as those in Shreveport-Bossier City.

We asked public officials such as Shreveport Mayor Ollie Tyler and Bossier City Mayor Lo Walker and local celebrities like Bill Joyce to weigh in. A host of well-known community faces who roam the area as business people and community volunteers also offered recommendations.

And, of course, we had to enlist the help of our local experts the Shreveport-Bossier Convention and Tourist Bureau and the Minden-Webster Parish Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Although we had fun compiling this list of places to see and things to do, we expect a few of you will disagree with our choices and omissions. Write us at news@shreveporttimes.com to vent, but be sure include your own suggestions of favorite places. They could be featured in a future publication.
